

I. INTRODUCTION

1. Every two to three years, the Regional Cooperation and Integration (RCI) community of the Asian Development Bank (ADB) hosts a conference to connect with stakeholders in Asia and the Pacific, collect feedback on ADB actions and strategies, share knowledge, and explore innovative RCI initiatives. The 2019 RCI Conference discussed the RCI Operational Plan \(OP7\), which was prepared as part of ADB's Strategy 2030.

2. OP7 was carefully designed and balanced to build higher quality connectivity (pillar 1); expand global and regional trade and investment opportunities for firms in the region and make RCI benefits more inclusive given their unequal distribution (pillar 2); and generate more regional public goods (RPGs), which includes promoting collective action to support climate change mitigation and adaptation and mitigate cross-border transmission of infectious and communicable diseases (pillar 3).

3. The 2022 RCI Conference will provide a venue to discuss with key stakeholders of ADB's RCI operations (i) the performance, to date, of implementing OP7, and (ii) key strategic directions for the rest of the OP7 period and beyond. The participants of the Conference will include: (i) senior officials of developing member economies of the ADB responsible for coordinating regional cooperation initiatives, and (ii) representatives of development partner agencies, regional cooperation organizations, and relevant private sector organizations.

4. The Conference will be conducted in hybrid format, i.e., combination of physical and virtual event. In the afternoon of 22 August 2022, the day before the start of the Conference, a physical gathering of officials involved in the ADB-supported subregional cooperation programs together with ADB representatives will be held for a brief experience sharing session. Virtual participation is noted with an icon.
